OCALA OCCURRENCES

If you have any society items for the Star, please call five-one.

Mrs. Jack Camp left yesterday for a visit to relatives in Savannah.

Our repair work is guaranteed satisfactory. Sam T. Wilson, jeweler. 5-tf

Your wants in fresh meats and groceries will be promptly attended to if you'll call phone 108. Main Street Market. 4-tf

Mrs. Phil Robinson and her infant son have returned to their home in Inverness.

Complete line of watches for everybody at Sam T. Wilson's jewelry store, Harrington Hall block. 5-tf

Smoke Don Rey. That good cigar.

Mr. F. E. Wetherbee is in the city from Leesburg, for a visit to his wife and daughter.

Mrs. J. N. Bryan Jr. and little son, J. N. III., are expected this afternoon to visit Mrs. Bryan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stripling.

Mr. V. L. Hastings, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis at the hospital, is able to be out and is fast recovering his health.

Mrs. Eliza Richie, who has been spending the winter in Ocala with her son, Mr. Clyde Richie, left today for her home in Indiana.

Mrs. W. P. Huckaby has just returned from the bedside of her sister, Mrs. J. L. Lavender of Hampton, who has been critically ill for the past four weeks. Mrs. Huckaby left her sister convalescing.

At the meeting of the K. of P. last night the lessons of the second rank were instilled into the receptive mind of Mr. Robert Park. A score or more of the members of the lodge signified their intention of joining in the meeting with the Dunnellon lodge Thursday evening.

Judge Futch yesterday heard the two young men, Frederick Cleveland and R. V. Thompson, charged with having liquor in their possession, and the former with selling it. Cleveland pled guilty, and received a sentence on each charge, the aggregate of which will keep him at work on the roads for eight months. Thompson is a mere boy and seems to have been influenced by his companion. The judge turned him loose.

Among the attendants on the services at the new Catholic church Sunday were two of our best citizens, Mr. T. T. Munroe and Judge David S. Williams, both of whom had the best of reason to remember the dedication of St. Philip's church thirty-nine years ago. On that occasion, Mr. Munroe was a member of the orchestra while Mr. Williams sang a solo. Neither Judge Williams nor Mr. Munroe belong to the Catholic church, but they were glad to join their neighbors in rejoicing on both momentous occasions.

This afternoon the Star had a very brief but pleasant visit from Mrs. Bertha Smith MacCullough, who with her father, Mr. E. C. Smith, spent a few hours in Ocala en route from Miami to Jacksonville. Since leaving Ocala a number of years ago, Mrs. MacCullough has come into national prominence as an expert swimmer and diver. She is located in Washington and holds a position in the Russian division of the state department. At her swimming and diving she is working hard and is in line for the national championship. It is hoped that she will be able to stay longer on her next visit, and that she may be able to give an exhibition of her prowess in Silver Springs.

OCALA BOYS PUT UP

A GOOD FIGHT

The Gainesville News says of the basketball game in that city Saturday night:

"Saturday night the boys' basketball team of the G. H. S. opened the season with an easy victory over the Ocala quintet by the score of 55 to 10. The Ocala boys fought hard, but were no match for the locals in either size or experience. For the first few minutes all indications pointed to a close score, but when the home boys found themselves it was all Gainesville."

Mrs. J. W. Dumas and Miss Mary Burford, chairmen of the special committee, in charge of the arrangements for preparation of the banquet last night, wish to thank George MacKay & Company and the Harrington Hall hotel management for the courtesies and favors shown; also Mr. Boyd, steward of the Harrington, who so willingly assisted in their task; Miss Callie Gissendanner, who had charge of the French maids, who served the banquet, and to all of those who in any way rendered their assistance in making the banquet a success.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY AND OVER-TIME PAY

Contentions Made Before the United States Labor Board by Railway Clerks

(Associated Press)

Chicago, Jan. 10.—Extra pay for over-time work and an eight-hour day are the principal points sought by railroad clerks in the controversy over rules of the clerks' national agreement, up for consideration today by the United States railroad labor board.

MEETING OF PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association will be held Thursday, Jan. 12, at 4:15 p. m., at the high school. After a short business meeting, Dr. C. L. Collins will give a lecture on moving pictures, after which a social meeting will be held. The members and friends of the association are urged to attend this meeting. M. Meffert, Acting Secretary.

SHIFTING SENATORS

(Associated Press)

Washington, Jan. 9.—Senator McCumber of North Dakota, was selected today by the committee on committees as chairman of the Senate finance committee to succeed the late Senator Penrose. Senator Frelinghuysen, republican, of New Jersey, was selected to fill the vacancy on the finance committee.

Breathing Space.

The modern ideas of education are all very well as far as they go, but there is an old and well-tried proverb which says that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing. Perhaps that is why Johnny Jones's essay on air ran like this:

"Breath is made of air. We breathe always with our lungs, except at night, when our breath keeps life going through our noses while we are asleep. If it wasn't for our breath we should die whenever we slept."

"Boys that stay in a room all day should not breathe. They should wait until they get outdoors. A lot of boys staying in a room make carbonic oxide, and carbonic oxide is more poisonous than mad dogs, though not just in the same way. It does not bite, but that's no matter so long as it kills you."

Legionnaires Respond.

When a post of the American Legion in Jackson, Miss., asked for volunteers to save the life of Weldon A. Crawford, overseas veteran, by blood transfusion, 12 legionnaires responded. Crawford, seriously injured in a street car accident, is recovering.

OLD GOBBLER KEPT PEACE

Intelligence Displayed by Turkey Proved Him the "Right Bird in the Right Place."

Unlike the ordinary run of turkeys, Ben, a mammoth bronze gobbler that one of our contributors owned, had a great deal of sense. One day, our friend writes, our nearest neighbor's entire flock of turkeys invaded our farmyard and soon started a "free-for-all" fight with our birds. The two old gobblers engaged in combat; young gobblers fought young gobblers; and old turkey hens clashed.

A week later one of the women of our family saw the same flock coming down the road, and ours going across the farmyard apparently to meet them. She turned back into the house to get her sunbonnet and the broom, but when she went out not one of the home flock was in sight. A moment later Ben emerged alone from behind the big straw stack in the barnyard, crossed the yard and met the intruders. Seizing the leader firmly by the neck, he marched him up the road toward his home. The visitor's numerous family, evidently too much astonished to do anything else, meekly followed.

Looking behind the straw stack, she saw Ben's flock crouched perfectly still in the straw. Not one of them stirred or made a sound until Ben returned and led them into the farmyard, where he strutted proudly before them with the air of one who had done his duty well. Could anyone have handled a difficult situation more intelligently? —Youth's Companion.

SNOW PENITENTS OF ANDES

In the higher Andes of Argentina and Chile, within a very limited region, where there is a polar climate in which no human beings can dwell, the so-called Snow Penitents assemble.

The traveler comes unexpectedly upon a great throng of them, gathered on the barren slope of a mountain peak. Seen from a little distance, they have the appearance of a crowd of hooded monks, all in white and kneeling in serried lines. It is a remarkable illusion, for the "monks" are not human at all, nor alive. Each one of them is a block of snow and ice. One theory of this phenomenon is that the fallen snow may be of uneven density and that the powerful rays of an overhead sun first melt those parts of it around the denser spots, leaving the latter still frozen, to assume the form of snow men.

As the snow continues to melt, water trickling down from the blocks may help to deepen the surrounding hollows, while prevented from accumulating in the latter by the slope of the mountains. The arrangement of the white figures in rows may be explained by the slope, the water all draining in one direction. This, however, is only one of several theories offered in explanation of the "Snow of the Penitents," as it is called in that part of the world.

Retired Persons.

The proverbial "busman's holiday" is nothing to that of the man who retires from business. Some months ago the manager of a London bank retired. Since then he has looked in most days "just to see how they are getting on." Equally bad is the case of a provincial theater manager, an old actor well known in London's theatrical world. He also retired, bidding his staff a long farewell with much emotion. It was understood he was going to live in a quiet little place in Surrey. A fortnight later he turned up in his old theater as director of a traveling company. Worst of all was the impetuosity of a printer, who, after being pensioned, appeared every morning at the office door at the usual time to watch the others go in to work. Nor did he come to gloat. He envied.—London Times.

The Effect of Ease.

Experts say that American women are taller than they were 40 years ago and that athletics is responsible. But only a small proportion of the women of the country indulge in athletics. It would be just as easy to prove that the increase in height is due to less exercise than formerly. Surely the broom and the washtub are as effective muscle producers as the golf stick and the tennis racket, and the modern housekeeper does not as a rule have to work as hard as did her mother and grandmother.
